

RUTH ASCHER MASTERCLASS 2019

SUNDAY 31 MARCH 2019 2:30-5:30^{PM}

ST JOSEPH'S COLLEGE READING

Anthony Williams M.Mus GRSM(Hons) DipRAM LRAM, Head of Keyboard and Instrumental Music, Radley College will give a piano masterclass to advanced piano students before an invited audience.

After the masterclass Anthony Williams will give a short recital.

Ruth Ascher was a much loved, gifted musician and teacher and a member of Reading U3A, which has sponsored the masterclass in her memory from a legacy left by her to Reading U3A.

Applications are now invited from piano students to perform in the masterclass.

Applicants should be aged 18 years or younger. They are asked to propose two short pieces to play, from which one will be chosen by the organising committee if the application is successful.

Candidates will be selected to perform in the masterclass on the basis of:

- a. Their musical ability (normally having attained grade 7 or 8),
- b. Their readiness to cope with a public performance,

Other factors, such as the likelihood of them pursuing a career in music, the quality of the piece chosen, etc. may also be taken into account.

All applications should be accompanied by a sealed envelope containing a letter of recommendation from the applicant's piano teacher, which addresses the above criteria, and provides any other relevant information. This letter will be treated as a confidential communication between the teacher and the organizing committee.

All applicants will be offered a number of complimentary tickets to the masterclass.

All applicants will be notified in early February 2019 if they have been selected or not and which piece has been selected to play. Dress at the masterclass will be optional.

Please apply on the accompanying form.
